carole barry-kinsella

MD FRCOG FRCPI

consultant in obstetrics & gynaecology

Dr CAROLE BARRY-KINSELLA qualified from Trinity College, Dublin in 1984. She trained in general obstetrics and gynaecology while working in the Rotunda Hospital, St James' Hospital, the Coombe Hospital and the Mater Hospital.

She became clinical lecturer in TCD in 1988 and subsequently lectured in RCSI from 1989 - 1993. She continued to pursue her interest in infertility and endometriosis by travelling to Belfast to undertake training in advanced obstetric ultrasound.

In 1998, she established the Prenatal Diagnosis Clinic, a service which has continued to expand and develop over the years. She currently has 3 sessions per week in this clinic. She continues to teach students and is an honorary lecturer in RCSI.

Dr Barry-Kinsella is now appointed as Consultant in the Rotunda Hospital and in the James Connolly Memorial Hospital, Blanchardstown, Dublin.
